

Hi, I'm Frances. I'm a JHUI Certified Ukulele Teacher. I currently teach/lead a band of 28 students at Carlisle from beginner onwards.

I strongly believe in the power of music to heal, and that music should be fun.

My music journey began at 9 years old when I studied piano for 7 years and later piano accordion. I hold certificates both practical and theory with London College of Music and British College of Accordionists. I played for several years with an advanced Accordion Orchestra competing at master class level UK and abroad.

I also set up my own band arranging and delivering Music for Therapy which is my passion and raised £23,000 for local charities.

For my workshop you will need.... a sense of humour, a big smileand don't forget your ukulele.

No need to be nervous, we'll have a good time.

I look forward to your company.
